

THE AGAINST MALARIA FOUNDATION: GOVERNANCE

Charity status

The Against Malaria Foundation is a charity registered in the UK, US, Australia and a number of other countries.

The Foundation was set up in August 2004 with the explicit aim of handling the money raised through World Swim Against Malaria.

Further details, including charity numbers and relevant documentation, can be found on our website at http://www.againstmalaria.com/AboutUs_CharityStatus.aspx

Our trustees

Trustees play an important role in controlling the management and administration of charities as well as providing valuable expertise and experience. The Trustees of the Against Malaria Foundation have been chosen carefully to reflect the different aspects of the initiative.

Bill Boler

Bill Boler is a Director of Business in the Community, a two-year project to help businesses and communities identify and capitalise on under-served markets in deprived neighbourhoods. Bill played a similar role in New York and is credited with "turning around Harlem". In the United States, Bill was Vice President for Community Investment at Business for Social Responsibility (BSR), helping companies to integrate community investment into their business and CSR strategies for the benefit of both companies and community. Prior to joining BSR he served as executive director of the Greater Harlem Housing Development Corporation from 1993-1998, during which time he worked to attract private investment to Harlem, NY. He was Deputy Commissioner of the New York City Department of Business Services and Vice President of the city's Public Development Corporation. Bill earned a Bachelor's Degree in Architecture from Yale University and a Master's Degree in City and Regional Planning from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government.

THE AGAINST MALARIA FOUNDATION: GOVERNANCE

Stephanie Cook

Stephanie is a medical doctor and has seen the effects of malaria first hand. She has field experience in India, Uganda and South Africa and has had malaria herself. She is also an Olympic Champion, having won a gold medal in modern pentathlon at Sydney in 2000, and was both European and World Champion in 2001. Modern pentathlon was the focus of Steph's life for ten years. After the Sydney Olympics she returned to her medical career and now specialises in ENT (ear, nose and throat) and head & neck surgery.

Jonathan Calascione

Jonathan is a partner at global strategy consultancy, Monitor Company. He has worked at Monitor for the last 15 years leading projects in a variety of industry sectors including banking, chemicals, travel and telecommunications. In recent years he has developed an expertise in the media sector. Prior to joining Monitor Company, Jonathan managed the British Army ski team for two World Cup seasons.

Guy Davis

Guy currently works as an independent business advisor and venture investor following a 20-year career in international investment banking and business consulting. He is a Board member of the Amateur Swimming Federation of Great Britain.

Richard Lane

Richard is Director of Science at the Natural History Museum in London. He is responsible for a staff of 500 and 70 million items held by the museum. Richard was a senior lecturer and head of the vector biology unit at the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine (1985-92) before becoming head of the Entomology Department at the Natural History Museum, London (1992-97). He was head of International Programmes at the Wellcome Trust between 1997-2003. At the Trust he was responsible for funding and reviewing major research programmes in biomedical and social sciences in over 40 countries as well as forging alliances and collaborations with international organisations and governments. His research has been on various aspects of insect vectors of disease and as a consequence of this and other activities has travelled extensively in the developing world. He has been a consultant to a number of governments for the World Health Organization and on external review bodies for several research organisations in the UK and overseas. He was educated at Imperial College, London (Zoology & Entomology). Richard is co-author of a major reference work in medical entomology and of numerous research papers.

THE AGAINST MALARIA FOUNDATION: GOVERNANCE

Andy Lewis-Pratt

Now retired, Andy was an Executive Director of Capital & Regional Plc, a UK listed property company and Chief Executive of The Junction one of the UK's largest retail property funds. He holds a number of non-executive directorships outside the property industry.

Rob Mather

Rob started World Swim Against Malaria and now runs the Against Malaria Foundation. Rob's business background is in strategy consulting, event management and publishing. He studied Chemical Engineering at Cambridge University and has an MBA from Harvard Business School. He lives in London with his wife Catherine and four children aged 9, 7, 5 and 3. He is passionate about fixing malaria.

Jeremy Schwartz

Jeremy has spent his career in marketing seeking to captivate people around ideas for brands. Most recently he was Brand Director for Sainsbury's supermarkets and prior to that Marketing Director for Coca-Cola across Central Europe and for L'Oreal in the UK.

Peter Sherratt

Peter is Chief Legal Officer and Vice Chairman at Lehman Brothers International, the investment bank. Peter joined Lehman in 1986 and is a member of its European executive team, trustee of its UK pension scheme and board member of a number of its companies, including its charitable foundation in New York. Outside the firm, Peter is Chair of Governors at an inner city secondary school. He trained as a lawyer in England, qualifying as a barrister, and holds degrees from Oxford and Cambridge Universities.

THE AGAINST MALARIA FOUNDATION: GOVERNANCE

Our Malaria Advisory Group

The Malaria Advisory Group (MAG) is responsible for advising the Trustees of the Against Malaria Foundation (AMF) on how monies raised should be spent. The MAG also approves of all funding applications received from our distribution partners.

The MAG is made up of some of the world's leading malaria experts. The group has extensive experience both in the strategies used to combat malaria and in the implementation of malaria programmes.

Professor Brian Greenwood

London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine & Director, Gates Malaria Partnership

Dr Sylvia Meek

Technical Director, Malaria Consortium

Professor Bob Snow

Head of Public Health Group, Kenya Medical Research Institute/Wellcome Trust Programme, Kenya

Dr Don de Savigny

Swiss Tropical Institute, Basle & Head of Research, Essential Health Interventions Project, Tanzania

Dr Ayo Palmer

Director, Centre For Innovation Against Malaria, The Gambia

Professor Nick White

Professor of Tropical Medicine at the University of Oxford and at Mahidol University in Thailand

Dr Abdisalan Mohamed Noor

Research Training Fellow at the Malaria Public Health & Epidemiology Group in Kenya

Dr Julie Makani

Julie Makani is a lecturer at Muhimbili University of Health and Allied Sciences (MUHAS)

March 2008